

Our Story:

We met in 2013 working in the same restaurant; Bryce as a chef and Ashleigh as a server. We bonded over Pearl Jam, sushi and a love for the comedy genre. Now Bryce works as financial analyst and Ashleigh as a clinical counsellor. We own our two level townhome - 3 bed, 2 bath - that we share with our two kitties: JonSnow and Eddie. You will most often find us listening to old records, gardening in the backyard, maybe playing guitar or boardgames. In the summer we visit the family cabin or go camping; we love being near water! Between us we have three siblings and three nephews and we cannot wait to expand our family.

Thank you so much for considering us!

From Ashleigh:

My counselling career over the past 13 years - in both non-profits and private practice - has focused on kids and families, and I especially love working with parents now. I can't wait to use all the parenting skills I learned for work....for our own family!

From Bryce:

My job allows me to work remotely from home, which is great because I always saw myself as a very hands on dad. Parenting is a team effort and I learned that from my own dad who was home with us kids anytime he could be.

What Ashleigh says about Bryce:

Bryce is incredibly generous, kind, and compassionate. His energy is warm and grounding to all around him. He is considerate of others, and happens to be the hardest working person I know. Bryce brings a thoughtful balance to my chattiness, and is generous with his hugs; 11 years later he still makes me laugh every day.

What Bryce says about Ashleigh:

Ashleigh is the most loving, intelligent and entertaining person that I have ever met. She has an incredible ability to make every moment enjoyable and constantly makes me laugh. Ashleigh has a sixth sense with kids, with an imagination and creativity that has them instantly attach to her, and I cannot wait for her to become a mother.

What we promise to you:

We promise to always have a nurturing home filled with love, warmth and respect for others, loving this child in all the ways they deserve, with their emotions and needs taken seriously.

We also promise to be silly, playful, and lighthearted as we are truly lighthearted people who make an effort to laugh every day with each other! We know how hard you are working to open your heart to us and we have so much appreciation for that. We promise to open our hearts fully to this child and protect them and keep them safe and loved.
